State level NSS Mega Camp

The Five Day State Level NSS Mega Camp began at Kakatiya University on November 6, 2015. About 200 volunteers, 20 Programme Officers from 11 universities from Telangana state took part in it. Inaugurating the mega camp University Incharge Vice-Chancellor T. Chiranjeevulu exhorted the students to cultivate the spirit of social service. He advised them to practice "each one-teach ten" to achieve literacy in villages and also to adopt villages to make them total literate. India is not progressing due to illiteracy and poverty. He advised the youth to respect the great Indian traditions and culture and strive to restore the past glory of India. Students should concentrate on society besides personal career, Sri Chiranjeevulu said. University Incharge Registrar Prof. Khaja Althaf Hussaini said that the role of the youth is vital in nation building. University College Principal Prof. N. Rama Swamy exhorted the volunteers to plant trees on important days such as birthday and marriage day. Programme Coordinator Dr. B. Suresh Lal said that apart from "Shramadan", personality development training classes are being organized by experts for volunteers during this camp. State NSS Liaison Officer Dr. Satyanarayana Reddy, Prof. G. Benerjee, Prof. K. Sayulu, Prof. P. Krishnama Chari, Prof. G. Damodar and others took part in the programme.

Prof. Ch. Dinesh Kumar, Director addressing the meeting

Dr. Jayashankar Endowment Lecture

The Third Endowment Lecture in memory of late Dr.K. Jaya Shankar, Telangana ideologue was held on August 6, 2015 at Kakatiya University. Delivering the lecture on "Institutional Building in Higher Education:Challenges of Leadership," former Director of NAAC Prof. V.S. Prasad said that market forces are greatly influencing the agenda of higher education. Education system in India today is huge and diverse. The immense size and diversity, increased commercialization, narrow focus of vision and mission are the great challenges to the education system in the country, he observed. He pointed out that loss of autonomy, insufficient resources and ineffective governing system, lack of permanent faculty and staff are some of the serious threats the university system is facing now. Expressing concern, he stressed the attention of all stakeholders to change the situation. Sri T. Chiranjeevulu, Incharge Vice-Chancellor who presided over the lecture said that there is a need to bring changes in the higher education in view of the changing global scenario. Incharge Registrar Prof. Khaja Althaf Hussain, Dr. Jayashankar Endowment Trust members Prof. N. Linga Murthy, Dr. Banda Prakash, Prof. Ch. Dinesh Kumar and others were present.

Dr. Ampashayya Naveen delivering the endowment lecture

Kaloji Endowment Lecture

The Second Endowment Lecture in memory of PadmaVibhushan Late Sri Kaloji Narayana Rao was held on September 14, 2015 at Kakatiya University, Warangal. Noted writer and Central Sahitya Akademi Awardee Dr. Ampashayya Naveen delivered lecture on "Telugu Mandalikalalu Dialects of Telugu Language." He stated that dialects are the spirit of any language. He called upon the Telugu language enthusiasts to come forward to protect the language from the adverse influence of English language. There is an urgent need to make serious and collective efforts to preserve it. He observed that the Telugu language has been taking the shape of hybrid language with English infringing upon the purity of Telugu. He observed that many Telugu words are being replaced with English words and that Telugu might disappear in the near future if the trend continues. All the linguists should pay urgent attention to this matter, Dr. Naveen said. Incharge Registrar Prof. Khaja Althaf Hussain, Kaloji Foundation members Sri Nagilla Rama Sastry, Sri Potlapalli Srinivas Rao, Sri Sirajuddin, Sri V.R. Vidyarthi, Sri P.Ashok Kumar, Sri Kaloji Ravi and other were present.

Dr. K. Balagopal Sixth Endowment Lecture

The Sixth Endowment Lecture in memory of Dr. K. Balagopal, Human rights Crusader for Just Society was held at Kakatiya University on October 8, 2015 in the Senate Hall. Consultant on Tribal rights at National Institute of Rural Development (NIRD), Hyderabad Dr. Trinadha Rao speaking on the topic "Development of Adivasis - Major Challenges in Telugu States," said that it is the statutory duty of both the governments to recognize and protect the rights of adivasis ensured under Forest Rights Recognition Act 2006. The Governments should stop extending the contours of Industrial and plantation programmes affecting the rights of adivasis in the forest areas, he demanded. He wished that the governments in both Telangana and Andhra Pradesh constitute a monitoring committee to monitor the implementation of tribal protective land laws. The democratic space for decision making in the design of programmes and financial governance must be ensured by the tribal and other welfare departments at the level of Gram Sabha. Inclusion or exclusion of groups in the list of Scheduled Tribes must be based on socio, economic, cultural study not based on political promises made during elections, he said. There is an urgent need to protect and develop the relatively undeveloped tribes by giving special focus and also to oppose anti adivasi programs, projects, policies and law. A book of Dr. Balagopal published by PERSPECTIVES, Hyderabad "Adivasilu, Vidya, Arogyam, Adhipathyam" and another by Dr. Trinadha Rao entitled "Adivasis struggle for identity" were released. ICSSR Fellow Prof. G. Haragopal said that they are publishing books to propagate the ideology of Dr. Balagopal. Prof. K. Purushotham presided over the programme while Prof. V.S. Prasad, Prof. N. Yoga Therapy Camp

A five day Yoga Therapy Camp was held at Kakatiya University from September 18-22, 2015. Conducting the camp, International Yoga Master & Founder, OVMO Trust (NGO) from Sri Aurobindo Ashram, Puducherry Sri Vaidya Indrasenji said that yoga improves mind and body coordination. While reducing stress and anxiety, it balances low and high energy. Yoga is practised in India from times immemorial and now the entire world is looking at us for this. He exhorted the students and employees of the University to practise yoga for a fit and healthy life. Practice of yoga offers a multitude of benefits to every one, he said. Yoga's combination of breath and movement can help alleviate social and academic stress. Inaugurating the Camp, chief guest and Incharge Registrar of the University said that Yoga is scientific. Yoga is conducive to cope with stress and strain of daily life. The UGC is promoting Yoga in Universities, he added. Prof. G. Damodar, Dean, College Development Council said that Yoga is being practised all over the world including Saudi Arabia which observed the International Yoga Day recently. Principal Prof. N. Rama Swamy, Yoga Centre Coordinator Dr. T. Savitha Jyotsna, Prof. VVS Sarma and fifty others took part.

Sri G. Sudhir Babu, Commissioner of Police, Warangal addressing the students

Anti Ragging Awareness Programme

Kakatiya University and Warangal Police Commissionerate jointly organized an Anti Ragging Awareness programme on October 9, 2015 in the University Auditorium. Addressing the students Warangal Commissioner of Police Sri G. Sudhir Babu exhorted the students to stick to their first priority i.e. studies and keep themselves away from ragging. He advised them to follow the SWOT principle to analyse their Strengths, Weakness, Opportunities and Threats. Ragging is crime and students indulging in it are liable for stringent punishment, which would spoil their future, he warned. Any act of teasing, humiliation, assaulting, using criminal force, criminal intimidation, wrongfully confining, causing hurt, causing grievous hurt, kidnapping or rape, committing unnatural offence, causing suicide or abetting death would be punishable under ragging act imposing penalty ranging from 1,000 to 50,000 with imprisonment from six months to ten years. He advised the students to develop positive attitude which would pave way for their bright future. Instead of wasting time on unwanted things like ragging, students should utilize every moment of campus life meaning fully for their studies with dedication. They should evolve as good citizens contributing to the welfare of the society. He also released the anti-ragging poster designed by KU Sub Inspector of Police Ashok. Incharge Registrar Prof. Kahaja Althaf Hussain said that all stringent measures are being taken to make the University Campus ragging free. University Anti-Ragging Committee Chairman Prof. T. Ravinder Reddy, Co-Chairman Prof. N. Rama Swamy, Convener Dr. T. Manohar and Hanamakonda ACP P. Shobhan Kumar spoke on the occasion.

Sri Potturi Venkateshwar Rao, former Chairman Press Academy delivering the endowment lecture

The Second Endowment Lecture in memory of Pioneer of Regional Journalism late Sri M.S.Acharya was held at Kakatiya University on December 19, 2015 in the Senate Hall. Eminent Journalist, Press Academy former Chairman Potturi Venkateshwar Rao delivered lecture on "Role of the Press and Media in Parliamentary Democracy." He blamed politicians for the deteriorating values in various fields including journalism. The parliamentary democracy can only flourish when people start questioning their representatives, he opined. Expressing hope that things would improve in the future, he however, said that it is a question when would this happen. Stating that the impact of social media has increased enormously of late, he said that the internet would have an upper hand over the print and electronic media by 2019 general elections. He also observed that media which was independent has lost its premise and seems close to power centres now. Media is catering only to those who benefit rather than serving society. Sri Venkateshwar Rao also recalled his association with late M.S.Acharya, who was the founder editor of "Warangal Vani" and "Jana Dharma." He showered praises on M.S. Acharya for showing courage to stand by the truth. Incharge Registrar Prof. K. Purusotham, Sons of M.S. Acharya, retired professor of English M. Rajagopalchary and Central Information Commissioner, Prof. Madabhushi Sridhar, Prof. S. Laxmana Murthy, Sri V.L. Narsimha Rao, Dr. Ampashayya Naveen, Dr. Banda Prakash, Prof. G. Seminar on Company Act 2013

A Two day Seminar on "Companies Act, 2013 - New Standards for Corporate Governance" was organized by Kakatiya University College of Commerce & Business Management and Institute of Chartered Accounts of India (ICAI), New Delhi began on December 21-22, 2015. Addressing the inaugural session of the seminar, former Vice-Chancellor of Kakatiya University Prof. N. Linga Murthy said that the Companies Act, 2013 which replaced old Companies Act, 1956 is a landmark legislation with far reaching implications on all the listed and unlisted companies incorporated in India. It would enable the companies to maintain transparency, accountability, disclosure of accounts, protection of investors, corporate social responsibility. It also makes women director mandatory. This Act has become significant as foreign investors are looking towards India as an attractive destination, he added. Speaking on the occasion Hyderabad Deloitte Haskins & Sells Ganesh Balakrishnan opined that we have to adapt to the changes taking place in the global scenario. He exhorted the companies not to deviate from ethical and moral practices in corporate governance to make "Make in India" a reality. ICAI Warangal Chairman P.V. Narayana Rao said that there are ample job opportunities for the students pursued Chartered Accountancy. Seminar Director Prof. K. Sayulu said that twenty lectures by experts on the theme are arranged for the benefit of teachers, research scholars and students. Commerce Dean, Prof. M. Subramanya Sharma, Prof. A. Sri Duvvuri Subba Rao, former Governor, RBI delivering the endowment lecture interest rates makes the depositors happy, while decrease in the rate make their counterparts i.e. loan takers unhappy and the RBI has to match these two conflicting interests. Inflation is regressive for growth which also affects the poor, he observed. Reducing cash in transactions would make the economy more efficient, he said. People have higher responsibility in detecting and controlling counterfeit currency notes, he said. Answering to a question he said that hike in price of onions was not only due to production but also distribution problems. University Incharge Registrar Prof. K. Purushotham, College Principal Prof. K. Sayulu, Dean, Prof. M. Subhramanya Sarma took part in the lecture programme.

Kakatiya University organized the Fifth Silver Jubilee Endowment Lecture on December 23, 2015 in the seminar Hall of Commerce and Business Management College. Delivering the endowment lecture on "Reserve Bank of India-Making a difference to everyday lives" former governor of RBI Sri Duvvuri Subba Rao said that RBI pays attention to the voice of the poor in its every decision. To maintain prices stability and growth support are the main objectives of the RBI. Increase in
